Forum Objective::

The Microfinance industry over the past two decades has received some contributions from donor agencies both within and outside Ghana. Microfinance, however, measured, has grown rapidly since the start of the present decade, growing by 20-30 percent annually. Microfinance institutions currently provide financial services to an estimated 25% of Ghana's total population.

The industry today continues to grow and hinges on donor support and other interventions but there still remains huge gaps as evidenced by the lack of alternative and competitively priced on-lending funds for the MFIs in Ghana. This coupled with the recent Bank of Ghana's minimum upward adjustment across the sector has called for alternative funding sources.

The industry needs lots of investments in both equity and debt financing to help the MFIs in Ghana to grow in terms of outreach and also to be financially sustainable in promoting financial inclusion agenda in Ghana.

Hence, the need to find these specially selected group of Fund Managers who are willing and determined to invest in the Microfinance Institutions in Ghana.

Session 1- Principles of Microfinance & Financial Inclusion
